

Millions Being Spent on State Buildings at Panama Expo; Never Before Have Appropriations Been So Big

State buildings at Panama exposition. Top to bottom: Indiana, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

SAN FRANCISCO.—States and territories of the United States are to be represented at the Panama-Pacific exposition on a far greater scale than they have been at any former exposition. The appropriations for state and territories' displays range from that of $1,100,000, the aggregate for New York city and state, to commensurate amounts for the newer states.

Exposition visitors will not find themselves in a strange wonderland of 635 acres lacking home-like place as headquarters.

The man or woman from Massachusetts will find a duplicate of the state house in Boston. The man from the Buckeye state will also find the state capitol at Columbus reproduced on the exposition grounds. The Hoosier is to find an attractive, comfortable and typical Indiana residence fitted with Indiana products from the Bedford stone in the fire-place to the books of the well-filled library.

New Yorkers will find their exposition home to be a mansion worthy of a place on Fifth avenue. It will be complete in all appointments from the governor's private suite to the three thousand dollar equipment for the most modern kitchens.

President Woodrow Wilson, along with other New Jerseyites, will find headquarters in a careful reproduction of the Trenton barracks, which were the headquarters of General George Washington just prior to his famous crossing of the Delaware to surprise the Hessians at their Christmas revels.

Thirty-nine states and territories have already selected sites upon the exposition grounds.

California Building Best.

The California building will serve as headquarters for visitors from states that have not yet made appropriations for a state building. The building when furnished and fitted with displays will represent an outlay of $2,000,000 and will be the largest state building ever built for any exposition and will be the second largest building on the exposition grounds.

The California building faces the bay at the beginning of the area devoted to the states. Inside the driveway arch of the south arcade is the forecourt reminiscent of the coisters of the old missions that have played their part in the history of California. The entire building is in the mission style and is a pretty tribute to the power that was wielded from these walled communities.

The architecture of the Hawaii building follows the low-lying tropical type so common in Honolulu. The building is in the form of a cross and at the intersection of the two arms there is a rotunda containing a mezzanine gallery.

Hawaii has appropriated $100,000. The New York building when finished

It has an attractive site, facing the bay and just opposite the New York for servants, twenty chambers for the state commissioners, a suite of rooms for the governor, a meeting room for the board, an oval reception room for women on the second floor and eighteen private baths.

West Virginia is to be represented by a building of the style of the famous southern colonial mansion. Hospitality is the keynote of the structure and the main reception room will be ornamented by a nine-pot fireplace.

Philippines There, Too.

The Philippines are not to be behind the other commonwealths that are to exhibit under the Stars and Stripes and the Philippine government has appropriated $300,000, of which $75,000 is being spent on the building alone. The structure is in Spanish colonial style that is characteristic of the islands. It is one story in height, triangular in shape and has a large patio in the center.

building and by the side of the New ished will cost $200,000. It is four stories in height, has twelve rooms. The Oregon building is one of the most unique on the exposition grounds. Jersey structure.

Oregon has appropriated $175,000 for participation and enough of this sum has been put into the construction of the building to insure a creditable showing. The building is of the general style of the Parthenon and instead of the marble pillars the sixteen columns on the north and south sides and the ten at each end are of gigantic Oregon logs.

Virginia's state building will be one of great interest. George Washington's Mount Vernon home will be reproduced in every detail and special arrangements have been made to have in this building furniture actually used by the first president.

Virginia has appropriated $40,000 to be spent on the building.

The distinction of being the first completed state building came to Idaho and this pretty structure was formally dedicated on May 14. The Idaho appropriation is $100,000. Idaho also started a custom that has met with favor from the other states in the appointing of an official ostess.

Among the other states that have had their plans prepared for state buildings and many of which have been begun are: Illinois, with an appropriation of $300,000; Nevada, $100,000; North Dakota, $35,000, being spent on the building; Pennsylvania with an appropriation of $300,000; Washington, with an appropriation of $175,000; Wisconsin with $20,000 on the building; Kansas, with an appropriation of $40,000; New Jersey, with an appropriation of $200,000, and Ohio with a appropriation of $125,000.

Handy Pruning Tool.
A Tennessee reader says she has made a handy pruning tool by attaching a chisel to the end of a long pole. Set the tool against the limb and hit the end of the pole with a hammer. If the tool is kept sharp it will remove the limb close to the branch and leave no ragged edges. No need climbing the trees with this instrument.

After Us the Deluge.
The remark is generally ascribed to Madame Pompadour, though it is attributed by some authorities to Prince Metternich. The champions of Madame Pompadour claim that while Metternich may have used the expression, he borrowed it from the Pompadour.

Unnecessarily Alarmed.
In consequence of a Lahore (India) literary society announcing a lecture, "Man, the Index of Creation," the city authorities sent 25 armed constables down to the lecture hall, which only held 50 people.

Time Wasted.
Lady (to caller)—You won't mind my going on with my work while you are here, will you? Then I shan't feel I'm wasting time.

Something in Reserve.
Nevertheless the folk who find the car steps too high are capable of some tall kicking.

FALL AND WINTER STYLES FOR MEN WILL DEMAND THE SLENDER FIGURE; TAILORS PLACE ALL THE BLAME ON THE NEW DANCES

At the convention of the National Association of Clothiers and Designers recently held at Atlantic City it was agreed that next season's male garb should be tighter than ever. This has naturally aroused some little indignation. The tailors declare that the tango and other new dances are the cause.
